LATEST RETURNS

Give Denver the Capital by a Large Majority.

Lake County Undoubtedly Gone Democratic.

Pueblo County Voters Give the Same Result.

Votes of Counties on the Capital Question.

Denver Election.

DENVER, Col., November 9.—In Denver Morris is elected mayor by 324 majority over Tritch, and Bliss, city treasurer, over Kinsey by 73 majority. The republicans elect five aldermen and citizens ticket two. The county ticket is incomplete, but the indications are that the republican ticket is elected by a small majority, with perhaps the exception of coroner. The capital vote is incomplete in Denver, but the majority is estimated at 8,000 as far as received, including Denver, and estimating Pueblo at 1,000.

Summit County Returns.

DENVER, November 9.—For judge of district court, Bissell, republican, 717; Marshall, democrat, 775. District attorney, Jenkins, republican, 841. Clark, democrat, 640. County clerk and recorder, Chadwick, republican, 708. Darnell, democrat, 784. Sheriff, Wheaton, republican, 778; Hartley, democrat, 709. Marshall's majority in Robinson, 34; majority in Kokomo, 18. Clark's majority in Robinson, 3; majority in Kokomo, 105. Darnell's majority in Robinson, 185; majority in Kokomo, 85. Hartley's majority in Robinson, 136. majority in Kokomo, 92.

Returns from Pueblo

PUEBLO, Colo., November 9.—Returns from the city are complete. The total vote of Pueblo was 909. Votes on the capital question were as follows: Pueblo received 974, Colorado Springs 4, and Denver 3. The total vote of South Pueblo was 869. Votes on the capital question were as follows: Pueblo received 784 votes, Colorado Springs 29, South Pueblo 52, Denver 3, and Beulah 1. Returns from the county so far are solid for Pueblo for the capital. Scarcely one-half of the registered vote in Pueblo and South Pueblo was polled. On the republican ticket W. W. Strait is elected sheriff by about 250 majority, and Captain William Meredith for county commissioner by about 150 majority. On the democratic ticket Hon. James N. Carlisle is re-elected treasurer, and the remainder of the ticket is elected by that party. This is what the returns show so far, and the returns from the county cannot change the result.

Lake County's Vote.

LEADVILLE, November 9.—Lake county, unofficial, gives the following majorities: Marshall, democrat, district judge, 451; Clark, democrat, district attorney, 218; Becker, democrat, sheriff, 955; Jacque, democrat, county clerk, 641; Hays, democrat, treasurer, 18; Riche, democrat, commissioner, 80; Kuplmeyer, democrat, commissioner, 257; Pritchard, republican, assessor, 141; Meire, democrat, coroner, 141; King, democrat, surveyor, 141; Crook, democrat, superintendent of schools, 228. The county will probably give 2,000 majority for Denver. Democrats are jubilant over their overwhelming victory.

WASHINGTON.

Annual Report of General Sheridan Attention Called to Public Timber Lands.

THE LAND COMMISSIONER REPORT.

WASHINGTON, November 9.—The commissioner of the general land office, in his annual report, makes the following interesting comments on the subject of the government timber lands:

The existing provisions of the law permitting citizens to fell and remove timber on public lands for mining and domestic purposes found in the act of June 3d, 1878, are in my opinion very defective. The only lands from which such cutting is authorized are the mineral lands. These are to a great extent regarded as private land claims in the territories of Arizona and New Mexico and the state of Colorado. I feel disinclined at this time to recommend any specific plan for the adjustment of said claims. Whether a commissioner should be appointed and the same provisions made as by the act of March 3d, 1851, for the settlement of like claims in California, or whether a law shall be enacted requiring proceedings to be commenced in the court within a certain time and left to the discretion of congress I am uncertain. My present duty will be performed when I shall have directed attention to the pressing necessity for some legislation which will be adequate to the speedy ascertainment of just what lands these claims embrace and to their final disposition within such a period as may be essential to judicial proceedings. Colorado is already a flourishing state, daily increasing its population, its industries and its wealth. New Mexico and Arizona are becoming easily accessible by reason of the construction of railroads and the mineral resources of both the state and the territories are drawing to them the wealth and the enterprise of a large numbers of our best citizens.

TREASURY NOTES.

WASHINGTON, November 9.—National bank notes received for redemption $75,000; receipts of U. S. bonds at the treasury department so far for redemption under the 105th call including those of to-day is $3,736,700.

STAR ROUTE CASES

Argument on the information phase of the Star route case closed to-day and Judge Cox announced that he would probably give a decision to-morrow.

BREWERY EXAMINATION

Commissioner Raum intends to cause a general examination of material used all over the country in the manufacture of beer.

SHERIDAN'S REPORT

CHICAGO, November 9.—General Sheridan's annual report concerning the military division of Missouri says. To garrison this entire district there are but 14,076 officers and men. Nearly all Sitting Bull's friends and adherents have surrendered and this nucleus for mischief has been removed. The condition of affairs in the department of Dakota has been favorable the past year. The Northern Pacific will in November open up Fort Keogh grazing and agricultural lands to settlers. In the department of Platte no event of military importance occurred. The posts of Sheridan and Hartsuff have been abandoned having fulfilled the purposes for which they were established. The post of Fort Niobrara has been completed and a new post has been located upon the new Ute reservation at the junction of the Duchesne and Green rivers in Utah. Although they have had plenty of time the Uncompahgre Utes who were to move to this vicinity from the department of Missouri have not yet arrived at the agency appointed for them on the east side of Green river not far distant from the new post above mentioned, nor have the White River Utes reached the Uintah reservation the commissioners have selected for them as their future home. Hopes are however entertained that before the first of the new year both the Uncompahgre and the White River Utes will reach their respective destinations without serious trouble, still some fears are entertained that they may not go there, and this impression has so firmly settled itself in the mind of the commission that at the request of Commissioner Russell the general of the army has directed the

to be driven to the Uintah agency. I am afraid, however, that but little can be done towards carrying out this order before spring, and will hope for better results before that time. No one can form any idea, excepting by personal examination, of the rough and broken country of the Gunnison and White River, the old home of the White River Utes, and I shall hope for a peaceful solution and settlement of this complication without the necessity for military operations.

The cattle, mining and agricultural interests have increased in this department, especially in the territories of Utah and Wyoming and in that part of Idaho along the base of the Big Horn mountains. Especially west of Fort McKinney beautiful farms have sprung up, fields of wheat, oats and barley and hundreds of thousands of cattle are now to be found where only two or three years ago was the land of the Indians and buffalo. The department has been economically administered and the condition of the service improved. At its ensuing session congress will be requested to make an appropriation for the new post at the junction of Duchesne and Green rivers."

In regard to the department of Missouri he advises that if possible the consent of the Mexican government be obtained for our troops to cross and catch the small band of Victoria's Apache freebooters, who have been inadequately punished for their murders. He recommends congressional action to keep the intruders from the Indian Territory, which hereafter will be accomplished by the military, the approaching completion of the Atchison road, the Atlantic & Pacific and Southern Pacific having a great civilizing effect and cheapened the army service in that service in that section.

Arizona Lynching.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—A Tucson dispatch received to-day says: Bill Littenbern and Sandy King, two members of a noted cowboy gang, were recently arrested for dealing in stolen stock and taken to Shakespeare for trial. About 2 o'clock this morning over a dozen masked men went to the jail where the two men were confined, and seizing the guard hung the cowboys to a joist until they were dead.

Falling House Tragedy.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The calamity of the fallen house proves greater than at first reported. Mr. Hill, who occupied the first floor, was severely injured. His wife and two children are still in the ruins. Mrs. Hill is believed to have been heard speaking beneath the ruins, and she may be taken out alive. Mrs. Baderson, 84 years old, was severely crushed; Mrs. Knaub and son killed; Mrs. Rudolph killed; four children and Mr. Wolf missing; a child of Mr. Sapphey killed. Loss to the property is $251,000.

Railroad Accident.

CINCINNATI, November 9.—A freight train on the Cincinnati, Louisville & Lexington railroad jumped the rail at South Carrington, from some unascertained cause, demolished several cars, killed Conductor J. P. Lane and injured a number of others.

THE ELECTIONS.

Virginia Readjusters Claim the State.

The Results in New Jersey Nearly a Tie.

New York State Claimed by the Republicans.

A Light Vote Cast in all the States.

New York.

ALBANY, November 9.—The Argus noon edition to-day claimed the election of the democrat state ticket by 3,000 majority, though owing to Carr running ahead of his ticket he may be elected. They say the senate is a tie, and the assembly in doubt. The Evening Journal says the senate is a tie and the assembly two republican majority. They claim the election of Carr by about 2,000, and consider the remainder of the state ticket except Huested probably elected. Republican congressmen in the 22d and 27th districts are elected.

NEW YORK, November 9.—Complete returns from Brooklyn give the vote for mayor as follows: Seth Low, republican, 45,434; James Howell, democrat, 40,937. Low's majority, 4,497. Steguran, republican, for sheriff, has a majority of 5,407. The democratic majority on the state ticket is about 1,000.

NEW YORK, November 9. In Brooklyn the republicans elected the mayor, sheriff, supervisor at large, no senator, no assemblymen, ten supervisors out of thirteen and five aldermen. Albert Daggett, chairman of the executive committee of the republican state committee, said that dispatches from different parts of the state give republicans a majority of 5,000. He said the assembly would be republican by about 68 to 60 while the democrats would gain the senate by one vote

Virginia.

RICHMOND, November 9.—Returns this morning are of the same general tenor as last night, showing slight additional gains for Daniels, democratic candidate for governor, but still leaving the result in doubt. The democrats, however, claim to have gained five more members of the legislature, and lost one, making a gain of thirteen, which gives them a majority of three on joint ballot. The readjusters are confident that their slate is elected, and estimate Cameron's majority at 15,000 to 20,000. As to the legislature they claim a good working majority on joint ballot.

WASHINGTON, November 9.—The following telegram was received from Petersburg, Virginia, by Commissioner Raum: The few reports we have are fully up to the expectations. The democrats are beaten and Norfolk is ours by over four hundred majority. Norfolk county we have carried by one hundred majority.

RICHMOND, November 9.—The State newspaper (democratic) this afternoon says Cameron is probably elected by 600 majority.

Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, November 9.—Returns from 106 cities, townships and precincts received up to 8 a. m give Hubbard, republican candidate for governor, 20,060; Johnson, democrat, 14,530. This is about a third of the vote of the state and indicates a falling off of 30 to 40 per cent. from the vote of last year. In other precincts the vote is the same in proportion. Hubbard's majority will be from 20,000 to 25,000. The rest of the ticket is about the same.

New Jersey.

TRENTON, November 9.—The result in New Jersey is as follows: Out of eight senators elected the republicans elect four and the democrats four. The senate will stand 13 republicans, and 9 democrats, the house 30 republicans and 30 democrats, leaving the republicans a majority of 2 on joint ballot.

NEWARK, N. J., November 9.—Latest returns give a reduced republican majority in the legislature. The senate stands 13 republicans, 8 democrats; assembly, 28 republicans, 30 democrats. Of the anti-monopoly republicans one is doubtful, but is claimed by the republicans.

Connecticut.

HARTFORD, November 9.—The republicans elected 10 of the 14 senators voted for yesterday, giving them 17 of the 24 senators. Last year the senate stood 16 to 5. This year there are three new districts. The house stands, according to the Courant's returns, 149 republicans, 98 democrats and one greenbacker. Last year republicans 60, democrats 80, greenback one.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, November 9.—Returns from counties up to 2.20 p. m. are still incomplete but sufficient to base an estimate of the general result. The republicans gained unexpected victories in several democratic counties including senators in Hartford where Allen, republican, is elected over Stump, democrat, who was president of the last senate. The next senate stands, according to present estimates, 18 democrats and 10 republicans. In the last senate there were 7 republicans and 19 democrats. Based on the same estimate the house stands 59 democrats and 32 republicans. The republicans also elected Frederick Stone, republican for chief judge in the seventh judicial district; also John D. Brooke, republican associate judge for the same district. In Howard county, the home of United States Senator A. P. Gorman, the regular democratic ticket is said to be elected by 250 majority.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, November 9.—Nothing was received at political headquarters this morning to alter materially the result already announced. The republican committee has some additional advices from the interior from which they place Bailey's majority at 7,000, but the democratic campaign managers are not satisfied that the adverse result has been achieved.

THE JOSEFFY CONCERT.

An Evening of Rare Enjoyment at the Opera House—The Hungarian Pianist Enthusiastically Received.

Herr Rafael Joseffy, the young but very distinguished Hungarian pianist and composer, appeared last evening at the Opera House. He was assisted in the evening's entertainment by Miss Laura Bellini, and there was presented the following:

PROGRAMME.

Wedding March—Midsummer Night's Dream	Mendelssohn-Liszt
Concerto E minor	Chopin
Romanze and Rondo
RAFAEL JOSEFFY.
Flowers	Bradsky
MISS LAURA BELLINI
Arietta di Balletto.	Gluck-Joseffy
Souvenir d'Amerique (Valse)	Joseffy
Traumerei (Reverie)	Schumann
Spinning Song	Mendelssohn
Campanella	Paganini—Liszt
RAFAEL JOSEFFY
Forever and forever,	Tosti
Rosettina	Gordigiani,
MISS LAURA BELLINI
The Mill	Joseffy
Hungarian Rhapsodie	Liszt
RAFAEL JOSEFFY

The audience last evening received the above numbers with every manifestation of approval and pleasure. The high expectations indulged in were more than realized. Joseffy has never been written of except in terms that seem extravagant to those who have not heard him, but last evening after he had interpreted his first selection and Chopin's E Minor Concerto his marvelously fine execution, and his beauty and delicacy of touch proved at once that he is worthy of his fame. His playing showed the highest capacity of expression while with his remarkable technique he displayed a vigor, fire and strength that place him easily in the first rank of great artists. He played without notes, and yet easily and surely. He is at all times a brilliant interpreter, and in his fortissimo and pianissimo effects he appears at his best. His pianissimo is extraordinary in its extreme delicacy, clearness and equality, and is so distinct that it is audible in even the remotest parts of the house. He is so versatile that he gives all the grace, passion and vivacity which the composition calls for. He is especially happy as an interpreter of Chopin and Liszt, and last evening his playing of the Romanze of Chopin was rich in all its sentiment and in the Rondo there was great grace and delicacy. Joseffy does not exaggerate. He never strives for effect, but is at all times intelligent, thoughtful and sympathetic. There were but short intervals between his solos last evening, and notwithstanding the fact that these selections were varied, he gave to each a perfect finish, and they were each marked with exceeding elegance. He was twice recalled, and all present would gladly have sat much longer listening to the interpretations of the deservedly popular pianist.

Miss Bellini was favorably received and honored with two recalls. She possesses a sweet and sympathetic voice, yet somewhat harsh in the higher notes. Her rendering of "The Blue Alsatian Mountains" was one of her happiest efforts.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather the Opera House was well filled. Those who braved the storm were of course amply repaid for their efforts. It was an evening of perfect enjoyment and Joseffy has obtained a strong hold upon the affections of the people of this city.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE.

After a Three Months Rest the Firemen Have an Opportunity to Use Their Apparatus.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded and the entire department responded promptly to the call. Since the fire which partially destroyed Mr. Russell's house early in August the Colorado Springs department has not had an opportunity to use its apparatus. On account of the snow upon the ground the hose carts pulled very heavy and much more time than usual was lost in getting to the scene of the conflagration. Both the France and Jackson companies started up Nevada avenue together, neither company at the time knowing exactly where the fire was. When in front of the court house C. H. Marsh's team drove up and hitched to the Jackson cart. By this time flames could be seen rising from the roof of a house on North Weber street, which was subsequently ascertained to be the residence of Mr. F. O. Wood. Both the France and Jackson companies arrived on the ground together and had streams playing on the fire almost simultaneously. In the meantime Bacon & Carr's teams with the Sigafus cart and the hook and ladder truck reached the scene and in a very few moments the Sigafus boys had a stream directed on the front of the roof, the other two companies being in the rear.

By this time the assembled crowd had nearly all of the furniture removed from the house. Although the three streams subdued the flames it was some time before they were entirely extinguished. All of the firemen worked with a will and many who were at work on the roof were drenched to the skin. It was disagreeable work to say the least as a cold wind was blowing at the time and the water froze as it fell. It is not exactly known how the fire originated but it is presumed that it was caused by a defective flue. The furniture was removed before it had sustained much damage from either water or fire. As for the house it was damaged to quite an extent although all losses are covered by insurance. The prompt active work done by the firemen saved the building from total destruction.

District Court.

District court convened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning with Judge Helm on the bench. Some of the jurors named in the GAZETTE on the opening day having been excused, venires were served upon others to fill the vacancies. The following named gentlemen were duly empaneled on the grand jury:

S. C Stout,
Charles Woodling,
S. B Westerfield
O. Everhart,
Henry Guire,
I. W Graves,
A. Z. Sheldon,
H. Le B. Wills,
J. P. Conlogue,
L. B Farrar,
A. C. Martin,
G. H. Stewart

Messrs. William Lennox and David Spellman, of the grand jury, and Charles Eldridge, of the petit jury, not being present when court opened Judge Helm ordered attachments issued against them. No cases being on the calendar which required the attention of the petit jurors they were discharged until 10 o'clock this morning. The following cases were disposed of during the day:

No. 749, Stiles vs. New Mexico railroad company et al, was passed for the present.

No. 747 Blethun vs. Dana. Demurrer overruled and defendant allowed until Monday next to make answer.

No. 769. Colorado Springs company vs. Knapp, Stockbridge et al. Motion on demurrer to be argued to-day.

No. 616. Wilbur vs. Maynerd. Mr. Harrison entered appearance for plaintiff.

No. 452. Colorado Springs company vs. Vidal et al. was passed for the future.

No. 748. Clark vs. National Land and Improvement company. Passed

No. 750. Gaines vs. Adams. Judgment by default and clerk ordered to make assessment.

No. 754. Barnes vs. Pennington. Judgment by default, and clerk ordered to make assessment.

A Card from Prof. Trotter.

To the Editor of the GAZETTE.

MANITOU, November 9, 1881.—Who is this man Sutton that pretends to have a patent on which I am infringing? Is it the man who sells overcoats in Colorado Springs? If so, he knows no more about mining than a pig does about salvation. He had an idea of a patent by which he thought he could draw the silver from a mine through a straw—sort of mint julep style—but found he hadn't suction enough. Mr. Sutton, just stick to your clothing trade and let scientific subjects alone.

PROF. TROTTER.

R. W. STEELE,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

Denver is the capital by a large majority.

Bolting was very bad all around this year.

Colorado is the straightest republican state in the country.

The Hon. C. C. Holbrook is elected district attorney without doubt. He will have a thousand majority in Douglas and El Paso counties alone.

Denver can console herself with the thought that the legislature cannot contaminate her. The state, however, should have thought more of protecting its legislature than its cities.

We have failed to receive any congratulations on the result of the capital election. We strove for the second place and apparently have it. As we obtained what we asked for, we must express our profound satisfaction with the result.

The returns from the south are most encouraging. We make solid gains in Virginia, Maryland and Mississippi. The victories of themselves amount to little but they are important because they show that the solid south will soon be a thing of the past.

Under the last five months of Secretary Windom's conduct of the affairs of the treasury, the debt was reduced over $55,000,000. At this rate the debt will be extinguished in less than ten years. This is faster than is necessary. The next congress should reduce some of the taxes.

The Leadville papers are amusing yesterday. The contest in Lake was so close and the count so incomplete, that neither paper dared say anything on the election. As the Democrat, however, denounced the high sheriff fees, it would appear that it is satisfied Becker is not elected.

Mr. Walter of the London Times who has lately been in New York says that he believes that city will soon take its water supply from Lake Erie. This lake is four hundred feet higher than the city and under an ordinary pressure would reach a hight far above the highest steeples. The idea is very absurd, considering that the Hudson is near with an abundance of fresh water.

Fully $750,000 have already been raised for the sufferers from the Michigan fires, but a quarter of a million more is absolutely necessary in order that the people of the afflicted regions may not come to want during the winter. Thousands of agriculturists have lost their all: they must be taken care of. What is needed now is money. Every town and city should contribute something.

The population of this country is being increased at the rate of 700,000 souls per annum from the old world alone. This gives us more than 1,800 souls each day. Germany sends the greater portion and they usually bring money with them. Many of the Irish too have some means. The fact that 8,710 persons arrived last month in New York from Canada will surprise many. Such was the truth, however.

The News had one victory to console it. Ex-Collector Murphy and the republican candidate for congress in Fernando Wood's old district was defeated. The vote last year for the two democratic candidates in this district was 19,093. The republican candidate received 9,313 votes. This was a democratic majority of 9,780. Because Mr. Murphy did not overcome this, the News thinks his defeat was a democratic victory.

We wish to say a word regarding our citizen's committee now that the contest is over. The eleven have faithfully done what they could even though unsuccessful, and they deserve the hearty thanks of the city which they have so zealously served. It will not be invidious to make special mention of the secretary, Colonel E. T. Ensign. He has labored continuously and faithfully since the appointment of the committee and has given more time than any other one person.

Our dispatches indicate that the republicans have carried the New Jersey legislature. This means a gain of one United States senator. The successor of McPherson (democrat) will be chosen this winter. During the latter part of Grant's second term we lost several United States senators in the north. We are replacing them rapidly with republicans. We have already within three years gained two in Connecticut, one in New York, one in New Jersey, one in Pennsylvania, one in Ohio, and one in Indiana. This election will give us a gain of the other senator from New Jersey.

It seems that ex-Senator Chaffee, of New York or Colorado, bet on the election against the republican ticket and very properly lost. He was alleged to have been in support of the straight ticket, but his betting against Spangler shows that either he was at heart opposed to the republican ticket or else that he was gambling. Bets on elections are either made to create popular confidence that the better's party will be successful, or else to make money. The former is a bet of a party man, and is always with his party; the latter is that of a gambler. We may conclude, therefore, that Mr. Chaffee either was at heart in favor of the mongrel ticket, or else that he was gambling on the result. But party loyalty should have prevented the gambler's bet. The friends of the mongrel ticket were betting simply for the purpose of creating the impression that their ticket would win, and thus get the floating vote that goes with the winning party. If Mr. Chaffee's bet was that of a gambler then he deliberately aided in injuring his party to make money.

Parnell begins to show his true colors. It will not take very long for him to be easily convicted of treason. At least we judge so from the following proclamation which he he lately issued:

> The time is now come for the Irish people to choose between the government land courts and the principle of the league. We have used our resources to support those who stand by our principles, but we won't aid any tenant on those estates where fellow-tenants on the same estates are unmindful of those principles. We have therefore directed those in charge of the relief funds to refuse assistance to tenants on any estate where the rest of the tenants have paid rent or applied to court to have a fair rent fixed. We advise evicted tenants to continue to rely on the league, and not to waste their slender resources on a useless legal struggle.

Here, indeed, is a would-be dictator who commands the tenants to obey him and not the law. His advice to the evicted tenants "to continue to rely on the league" will hardly be followed. Parnell is showing his hand too carelessly. His power will not last much longer.

> The demand that President Arthur shall carry out the "policy" of President Garfield is about to be complied with according to Washington gossip. The story is that Wm. E. Chandler, Garfield's solicitor general, is to be reappointed. There will be a sort of grim sarcasm in this action—yielding to the popular pressure in the appointment of the most universally unpopular of President Garfield's appointees.—[Leadville Herald.

This will rather indicate the extent of the influence which Mr. Blaine has with Mr. Arthur. Mr. Chandler was Mr. Blaine's candidate when he was nominated by Mr. Garfield, must to the disgust of other members of the cabinet.

Principles, Not Men.

Denver Republican.

The defeat means one thing: That men are actuated by principle, and that they regard the success of their party, which embodies their political principles, over and above all other considerations. The majority given Mr. Bliss, our candidate for city treasurer, shows the true republican strength. It prevailed in a direct fight against all the odds already stated, and gained a victory that is perfectly crushing in its effects. The democratic party must be hopelessly demoralized, and all its hopes for the future have faded away. The victory of yesterday was won upon a straight republican issue, and it carries the lesson that principles are stronger than men, papers or corporations. In this victory no men, clique, faction or corporations have been vindicated or condemned: the great truths of the grand old party alone have been vindicated.

Sad News.

Denver News.

The tussle was lively while it lasted, but now that the struggle is ended and the result is in process of being declared (we trust fairly and impartially) it is better for the community at large that the bitterness of the canvass shall end with the returns, and that the blessings of good local government, fair play for all legitimate enterprises, and a press devoid of personal abuse, be considered as won. If this be conceded as a matter of course, the News will salute the regular flag, and extend the right hand of fellowship in legitimate journalism to its esteemed contemporaries of the "head" and "tail."

A Party Victory.

Denver Tribune.

The victory is a party victory. This and nothing more. That it is a great party victory is a splendid evidence of the vitality there is in republican principles and the solidity of the organization. The party could not afford defeat in the contest which has just ended, and therefore it was not defeated. The democratic trade has been severely rebuked, and everything is all right. The fight was not made in vain.

English Channel Tunnel.

London News.

If we except the recent public protest of Sir Garnet Wolseley against any attempt to abolish the "silver streak" which is at once the pride and the horror of the sea-sick British passenger, the outside world has lately heard but little of the Channel tunnel. The engineers and their valiant little bands of workmen who are steadily cutting their way through the lower chalk from both sides of the straits of Dover have however been losing no time, for it is announced, apropos of M. Leon Say's recent visit to Calais, that a considerable section of the works is expected to be ready for official inspection at the end of this month or the beginning of December. The work now being so energetically pushed forward is that of a drift way, which, if the boring proves successful, may ultimately be enlarged into the intended great highway for passengers and merchandise between England and the continent. On the French side the work has, as we stated a few days ago, already reached a distance of 1,800 metres, while on the English side 1,600 metres have been completed. This makes in all 3,400 metres, or considerably more than one-tenth of the entire extent of piercing to be accomplished, the tunnel being rather more than 20 kilometres, or eighteen miles and a quarter long, to which must be added the gradual descent of about a mile and a quarter on either side, rendered necessary by the circumstance that the submarine portion commences at the bottom of shafts some 300 feet below the surface.

So considerable an amount of progress as this must necessarily go far towards establishing the perfect feasibility of a task which was long regarded as a mere dream of a scientific enthusiast. The truth is that practical engineers who have given attention to the subject have long regarded the problem as simply one of cost and time. The observations of Sir John Hawkshaw long ago led that experienced engineer to the conclusion that the tunnel could be wholly excavated in the lower bed of homogeneous chalk. This stratum is known to be 500 feet deep on each shore at high water mark, and being identical in character on each side of the Straits there is little reason to doubt that it stretches beneath the sea uninterruptedly, covered only by the familiar sand and shingle of the shores. Such a bed offers to the engineers peculiar advantages. Its great thickness enables them to continue in the same stratum the gradual descent of the tunnel corresponding to the shelving bed of the sea which, about midway between St. Margaret's Bay and the French shaft, a little to the west of Calais, attains a depth of about 180 feet below high water mark. It is, moreover, very easily worked; for though it is not so manageable as the soft, pure, white upper chalk which is so familiar to the eye in the cliffs of our southern coasts, it still yields readily under the action of an engine on the simple principle of a carpenter's auger. Compared, therefore, with the slow labor of cutting through the hard rock of Mont Cenis, the task is really child's play. In the latter work a yard a day was considered a fair rate of progress; whereas Mr. Brunton's machine has been shown to be capable of cutting through the chalk at the rate of a yard an hour. Lastly, while the slightly greater hardness of what is known geologically as the lower chalk, compared with the more yielding nature of the upper strata, is hardly worth mentioning, its greater resistance to the percolation of water is an invaluable quality. The tunnel five miles long excavated a few years ago by Sir John Hawkshaw along the sea-shore at Brighton below high-water mark, was in the upper chalk; hence the work was greatly impeded by fresh water springs—as much as ten thousand gallons per minute having some times to be pumped out. But even here the undertaking was not permanently delayed; nor would a considerable percolation in the channel tunnel probably prove a difficulty too great to be grappled with. It has been said, indeed, that nothing could hinder the ultimate completion of the tunnel but the very improbable existence of open unfilled fissures reaching from the bottom of the sea to a depth of two hundred feet; for the tunnel will at all points be at a greater depth than this beneath the sea bed. No practical miner and excavator, however, is prone to despise the difficulty of water; and any large infiltration would unquestionably add greatly to the already great expense of the undertaking. Under these circumstances, it is consolatory to know that the lower chalk has been shown as far as experiments can show, to be practically water-tight. That no great difficulty is found in keeping the workmen supplied with sufficient air may be assumed in these days of large experience in long tunnelling. And though, as the work progresses, if it is really carried beyond the experimental stage, the distance along which the excavated chalk must be removed to either shaft will be constantly increasing, there need certainly no delay on this score. We need hardly say that every mile of the work successfully executed would increase the probabilities of success in a constantly increasing ratio.

Supposing that it is decided to go on with the work, and that the needed twenty millions can be raised, there seems little reason to doubt that the tunnel might be completed in a few years. The original calculation was that it would only require two years to piece a way of seven or nine feet in diameter from one side of the channel to the other, a machine being worked from each side. Now that the experiment is proceeding in good earnest there seems every reason to hope that the task might be accomplished within something less than that period from the present date. If so, another four years would probably be required to complete the entire work and render it fit for traffic. Long before then, however, we should have really solved the problem of the possibility of annihilating that sea passage which, from countless ages before the dimmest dawn of historic time, has been the inevitable condition of communication between these islands and the continent of Europe. Nor would the eventual opening of the Channel line, though it would crown the labor, be the most striking of the events in the history of the undertaking. There is something strangely fascinating to the imagination in the thought of a double band of workers deep down below the bed of the sea quietly pursuing their daily labor while overhead the hurricane of last week was lashing the waves, and no packet boat dared to put forth from the shelter of the harbors on either shore. But still more impressive is the thought of the time, now we may almost venture to say approaching, when the excavators, detecting with quick ears a dull echo, as it were, of the noise of their own labors, will pause to listen; and then, going forward with a loud cheer and with redoubled energy, will see the thin wall fall, and stand suddenly face to face with their comrades from the opposite shore.

Jimmy Brown and the Ice-Cream Party.

From Harper's Young People.

There was pretty nearly a whole week that I kept out of trouble; but it didn't last. Boys are born to fly upward like the sparks that trouble, and yesterday I was "up to mischief again," as Sue said, though I never had the least idea of doing any mischief. How should an innocent boy, who might easily have been an orphan had things happened in that way, know all about cooking and chemistry and such, I should like to know. It was really Sue's fault. Nothing would do but she must give a party, and, of course, she must have ice-cream. Now the ice-cream that our cake-shop man makes isn't good enough for her, so she got father to buy an ice-cream freezer herself. I was to help her, and she sent me to the store to order some salt. I asked her what she wanted of salt, and she said that you couldn't freeze ice cream without plenty of salt, and that it was almost as necessary as ice. I went to the store and ordered the salt, and then had a game or two of ball with the boys, and didn't get home until late in the afternoon. There was Sue freezing the ice-cream, and suffering dreadfully, so she said. She had to go and dress right away, and told me to keep turning the ice cream freezer till it froze, and don't run off and leave me to do everything again, you good-for-nothing boy. I wonder how you can do it. I turned that freezer for ever so long, but nothing would freeze, so I made up my mind that it wanted more salt. I didn't want to disturb anybody, so I quietly went into the kitchen and got the salt-cellar and emptied it into the ice cream. It began to freeze right away; but I tasted it, and it was awfully salt, so I got the jug of golden syrup and poured about a pint into the ice cream, and when it was done it was a beautiful straw color. But there was an awful scene when the party tried to eat that ice cream. She handed it round, and said to everybody: "This is my ice cream, and you must be sure to like it." The first one she gave it to was Dr. Porter. He is dreadfully fond of ice cream, and he smiled such a big smile, and said he was sure it was delightful, and took a whole spoonful. Then he jumped up as if something had hit him, and went out of the door in two jumps, and we didn't see him again. Then three more men tasted their ice cream, and jumped up and ran after the doctor, and two girls said "Oh, my!" and held their handkerchiefs over their faces, and turned just as pale. And then everybody else put their ice cream down on the table, and said thank you, they guessed they wouldn't take any. The party was regularly spoiled, and when I tasted the ice cream I didn't wonder. It was worse than the best kind of strong medicine. She was in a dreadful state of mind, and when the party had gone home —all but one man, who lay under the apple tree all night and groaned like he was dying, only we thought it was cats—she made me tell her all about the salt and the golden syrup. She wouldn't believe that I had tried to do my best and didn't mean any harm. Father took her part, and said I ought to eat some of the ice cream since I made it, but I said I'd rather go up stairs with him. So I went.

Some of these days people will begin to understand that they are just wasting and throwing away a boy who always tries to do his best, and perhaps they'll be sorry when it is too late.

DAILY GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1881

College Notes

I will begin with two corrections

First President Tenney does not object to the society's publishing a paper. He doubts the success of the undertaking, but is willing there shall be an effort

Second The ladies' club do not intend to move into the house on Cascade avenue They will soon move into the house back of Mr Mahoney's residence, and probably remain there all winter They can furnish accommodations for others who desire the benefit of the club

President Tenney is building another house south of the diagonally placed one on Cascade It was shipped from Maine ready to be put together

Professor Loud's home looks quite scientific, as has been remarked, but some of the members of the boarding club are not scientific Two young men tried to obtain water from the sun-dial, while another emptied some waste water into the rain gauge, mistaking it for a sink Perhaps if he had been let alone, he might have scored for our somewhat arid climate an unprecedented amount of moisture

President Tenney preached at the Congregational church twice last Sunday

The attendance at the college union, which met at Professor Sheldon's last Saturday evening, was very small, and, strange to say, all the students present but one were young men

The debate of last Friday afternoon on the question of breaking up the Indian tribes, was very good Professor Stone presided The leaders Hooke, Halleck, Miss Rowe and Miss DeLange and two or three others took part A person high in authority—for fear that Professor Stone intended to be confidential, I will not say that I refer to him—expressed the opinion that in the debate the girls had rather beaten the boys The last of these Friday afternoon exercises will be held this week under the charge of Professor Marden The question to be discussed is international arbitration The attendance last Friday was thirty one, twenty two boys and nine girls—

Mr [illegible] of [illegible] for will be at least his trip to Mount Garfield Only the other day the banner was still floating

Professor Marden has given Misses Halleck and Cotten of his Spanish class, each a Spanish Testament

The exercises of the last meeting of the Occidental club were not very abundant on account of two or three failures The question discussed was whether the present policy of England toward Ireland should lead to the independence of Ireland The distinguished Irish patriots Jackson, Owen, Tuckerman and Ratliff appealed for the down trodden sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle, while Bartlett, Miss Neal, and Cooper—thought England's present policy as shown by the recent Irish land act is not so terrible bad after all The following passage in the debate is so truly Hibernian that it is worth the GAZETTE's while to preserve it

Eloquent gentleman on the floor (speaking of the American revolution)—"America's great friend—you know whom I mean, but his name has slipped my memory—

A voice— Pitt

Eloquent gentleman No not Pitt the other one

Another voice — Chatham

Eloquent gentleman—Yes, Chatham, that's it. [Tremendous applause]

Two more members were elected and arrangements were made for publishing a paper by the society. The paper will be published monthly, and will be known as the The Occident. The first number will appear about the 15th inst. The publishing and business part of the enterprise is in charge of a board of managers of three members, H H Seldomridge, chairman, I E Johnson, treasurer, and Wallace Hooke. F. W Tuckerman is editor Lizzie A R Deal, assistant editor, and George F Owen, local editor Mr Owen states that he intends to appoint each member of the society a reporter The managers and editors whom I have mentioned will issue the first three numbers

Nine males above twenty-one years of age ate breakfast at the boarding club table last Tuesday morning, and yet only three of them are legal voters in Colorado Springs and one of them did not vote

Professor Strieby's class in assaying organized Tuesday with two students Two or three other persons who desire to join the class are known of At present the college has four desks and can accommodate eight students Such material is now on the way, however as will make provision for twelve or thirteen As soon as the wings are finished the furnaces will be moved into the basement of the northern one, and there will then be room in the main building for fifteen desks.

Classes in blow piping and chemical analysis will be organized soon Some persons have already expressed a desire to study these subjects Among those intending to study blow piping are some ladies

—Among some material that arrived at the college yesterday are four and three-fourths tons of crucibles and a lantern worth, with its attachments, three hundred dollars This lantern will be used by Professors Strieby, Stone, Sheldon and Loud, for projecting various kinds of views Twenty-one boxes of chemicals and assayers materials are now on the way and are expected to arrive soon

A quantity of pamphlets, which had been stored in the basement, have been removed to Professor Loud's room and arranged

A DESPERADO CAUGHT

Particulars of the Capture of Ed. Williams.

OMAHA, November 8.—The following particulars regarding the capture of Ed Williams supposed to be the noted desperado from Wisconsin, were received here to-night from Grand Island, Nebraska Sheriff Killian of Grand Island, Hall county, was called upon at a late hour Monday night to proceed into the country about two miles south of Grand Island to arrest two men who were making themselves obnoxious to the farmers' families A farmer said they represented themselves as traders from Hastings that they carried Winchester rifles and in other ways were heavily armed He thought something was wrong. The sheriff with deputies proceeded to the farmer's house about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, and found the men in bed He asked them to get up and dress as he wished to speak to them Killian saw at a glance that they resembled Ed and Alonzo Maxwell, alias Williams, the notorious Pepin county, Wisconsin, murderers Both drew on their pants and boots Killian grabbed Ed and with the assistance of the farmer and his son threw him to the floor and narrowly escaped being shot by him They got his revolver away from him and held him to the floor while Killian endeavored to handcuff him, but Ed gave a regular Indian whoop calling Alonzo Killian stepped outside the door to stop Alonzo He saw him running towards him with a drawn revolver Killian stepped aside just in time to avoid being shot, and then went inside to instruct the deputy to guard the door with his double barrel shot gun As he did so Alonzo stuck his head inside when the deputy pulled on him, but the cartridge missed fire which movement scared off Alonzo who thereupon ran away without coat or hat and hid in the grass Killian secured Ed and went to look for Alonzo but it was hard to find any trace of him Killian brought Ed to Grand Island put him in jail and telegraphed the sheriff of Pepin county, Wisconsin He received a reply that he would come on the first train A large posse is searching for Alonzo

OZONE

A New Process for Preserving all Perishable Articles Animal and Vegetable, from Fermentation and Putrefaction Retaining their Odor and Flavor

OZONE Patented [illegible] [illegible] March [illegible]

This preservative is not a liquid pickle or any of the old and exploded processes but is simply and purely OZONE as produced and applied by an entirely new process Ozone is the antiseptic principle of every substance and possesses the power to preserve animal and vegetable structures from decay

There is nothing on the face of the earth [illegible] [illegible] or spoil which Ozone then will preserve that will not preserve [illegible] [illegible] in a perfectly fresh and palatable condition

The value of Ozone as a natural preservative has been known to our ablest chemists for years but until now no means of producing it in a practical inexpensive and simple manner have been discovered

Microscopic observations prove that decay is due to septic matter or minute germs that develop and feed upon animal and vegetable structures Ozone applied by the Prentiss method seizes and destroys these germs at once, and thus preserves At our offices in Cincinnati can be seen almost every article that can be thought of preserved by this process and every visitor is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] in every way the merits of Ozone as a preservative We will also preserve free of charge any article that is brought or sent prepaid to our office and return it to the sender for him to keep and test

FRESH MEATS, such as beef—mutton—veal pork poultry game fish &c preserved by this method can be shipped to Europe subjected to atmospheric changes and return to this country in a state of perfect preservation

EGGS can be treated at a cost of less than one dollar a thousand dozen and be kept in an ordinary room six months or more thoroughly preserved the yolk held in its normal condition, and the eggs as fresh and perfect as on the day they were treated, and will sell as strictly choice The advantage in preserving eggs is readily seen, there are seasons when they can be bought for 8 or 10 cents a dozen, and by holding them, can be sold for an advance of from one hundred to three hundred per cent One man with this method can preserve 5,000 dozen a day

FRUITS may be permitted to ripen in their native climate and can be transported to any part of the world

The juices expressed from fruits can be held for an indefinite period without fermentation—hence the great value of this process for producing a temperance beverage Cider can be held [illegible] perfectly sweet for any length of time

VEGETABLES can be kept for an indefinite period in their natural condition, retaining their [illegible] and flavor, treated in their original packages at small expense Asparagus flour &c [illegible] are held in their normal condition

BUTTER, after being treated by this process will not become rancid

Dead human bodies treated before decomposition sets in, can be held in a natural condition for weeks without puncturing the skin or mutilating the body in any way Hence the great value of Ozone to undertakers

There is no change in the slightest particular in the appearance of any article thus preserved and no trace of any foreign or unnatural odor or taste

The process is so simple that a child can preserve it as well and as successfully as a man. There is no expensive apparatus or machinery required

Any [illegible] [illegible] with different articles, such as eggs, meat, fish, etc. can be treated at one time without additional trouble or expense

In fact there is nothing that Ozone will not preserve Think of every thing you can that is liable to sour decay or spoil, and then remember that we guarantee that Ozone will preserve it in exactly the condition you want it for any length of time If you will remember this, it will save asking questions as to—whether Ozone will preserve this or that article—it will preserve anything and everything you can think of

There is not a township in the United States in which a live man cannot make any amount of money, from $1,000 to $10,000 a year that he pleases We desire to get a live man interested in each county in the United States in whose hands we can place this preservative, and through him secure the business which every county ought to produce.

A FORTUNE Awaits Any Man who Secures Control of OZONE in any Township or County.

A C Bowen Marion Ohio has cleared $2,000 in two months $2 for a test package was his first investment

Woods Brothers Lebanon Warren county, Ohio, made $6,000 on eggs purchased in August and sold November 1st $2 for a test package was their first investment

F K Raymond, Morristown Belmont county Ohio is clearing $2,000 a month in handling and selling Ozone $2 for a test package was his first investment.

D F Webber, Charlotte Eaton county, Mich has cleared $1,000 a month since August, $2 for a test package was his first investment

J B Gaylord, 80 La Salle st Chicago is preserving eggs, fruit, etc., for the commission men of Chicago, charging 1½c per dozen for eggs and other articles in proportion He is preserving 5,000 eggs per day and on his business is making $3,000 a month clear $2 for a test package was his first investment

The Cincinnati Feed company, 498 West Seventh street, is making $5,000 a month in handling brewers malt, preserving and shipping it as feed to all parts of the country Malt unpreserved sours in 24 hours. Preserved by Ozone it keeps perfectly sweet for months.

These are instances which we have asked the privilege of publishing There are scores of others Write to any of the above parties and get the evidence direct.

Now, to prove the absolute truth of everything we have said in this paper, we propose to place in your hands the means of proving for yourself that we have not claimed half enough To any person who doubts any of these statements, and who is interested sufficiently to make the trip we will pay all traveling and hotel expenses for a visit to this city, if we fail to prove any statement that we have made.

HOW TO SECURE A FORTUNE WITH OZONE

A test package of Ozone, containing a sufficient quantity to preserve one thousand dozen eggs, or other articles in proportion will be sent to any applicant on receipt of $2 This package will enable the applicant to pursue any line of tests and experiments he desires, and thus satisfy himself as to the extraordinary merits of Ozone as a preservative. After having thus satisfied himself, and had time to look the field over to determine what he wishes to do in the future —whether to sell the article to others, or confine it to his own use, or any other line of policy which is best suited to him and to his township or county—we will enter into an arrangement with him that will make a fortune for him and give us good profits We will give exclusive township or county privileges to the first responsible applicant who orders a test package and desires to control the business in his locality The man who secures control of Ozone for any special territory, will enjoy a monopoly which will surely enrich him

Don't let a day pass until you have ordered a test package, and if you desire to secure an exclusive privilege we assure you that delay may deprive you of it, for the applications come in to us by scores every mail—many by telegraph [illegible] [illegible] the first secures [illegible]

If you do not care to send money in advance for the test package we will send it C. O. D but this will put you to the expense of charges for return money. Our correspondence is very large we have all we can do to attend to the shipping of orders and giving attention to our working agents. Therefore, we cannot give any attention to letters which do not order Ozone If you think of any article that you are doubtful about Ozone preserving, remember that it will preserve it no matter what it is

REFERENCES:

We desire to call your attention to a class of references which no enterprise or firm based on anything but the soundest business success and highest commercial merit could secure.

We refer, by permission, as to our integrity and to the value of the Prentiss Preservative, to the following gentlemen Edward C. Boyce member board of public works, E. O Eshelby, city comptroller, Amor Smith Jr, collector internal revenue, Wulsin & Worthington, attorneys Martin H Harrell and B. F Hopkins, county commissioners, W S Cappeller, county auditor [illegible] all of Cincinnati, Hamilton county, Ohio These gentlemen are each familiar with the merits of our preservative and know from actual observation that we have without question

The Most Valuable Article in the World.

The $2 you invest in the test package will surely lead you to secure a township or county, and then your way is absolutely clear to make from $2,000 to $10,000 a year
